RHONDA BUSH

FOUNDER & EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
GIRL GET UP SOCIETY

A dynamic force in mental health advocacy and leadership, Rhonda Bush is renowned for her resilience and dedication to empowering women of color. A veteran survivor of anxiety, depression, and PTSD, Rhonda's personal experiences with mental health have fueled her passion and purpose. As the Founder and Executive Director of Girl Get Up Society, she oversees all aspects of the organization, which provides essential mental healthcare and support services to girls and women in South Carolina. Before her current role, Rhonda dedicated 14 years to the US Army, where she worked in Human Resources and continues to serve, applying her leadership skills to both her military and nonprofit endeavors. Rhonda Bush stands as a testament to the power of resilience and the impact of unwavering commitment to mental health advocacy.

KEY ISSUES

- 1 Mental Health Disparities and access to mental healthcare for Black girls and women.
- 2 Achieving equity in leadership roles for Black women
